

Secondary CLIL

The aims of the course are to clarify the concept of Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) and to focus on specific areas of language development for classroom management and instruction.

Available in	London Hampstead Oxford Brighton
Course code	CLIL/S
Entry level	Upper-Intermediate (B2)
Start dates	London Hampstead Oxford Brighton
Course duration	2 weeks
Total input	41.6 hours

Objectives

This two-week programme is aimed at secondary and Higher Education teachers, teacher trainers and inspectors. It is beneficial to teachers who are currently or in the future planning to deliver their subjects, such as Geography, Maths and Physical Education in English. The aims of the course are to clarify and "demystify" the concept of CLIL and to focus on specific areas of language development for classroom management and instruction. We demonstrate teaching techniques which are transferable to a variety of subjects across the curriculum. We also show how published and authentic materials can be adapted for CLIL lessons.

Methodology

During the course, participants are exposed to a range of teaching practices and methodologies. This can include the following: demonstrations of lessons using CLIL methodology; adapting and exploiting texts in the context of CLIL; evaluation of published materials and resources and specifically tailored sessions on language improvement. The course includes daily practical sessions on preparing CLIL micro lessons and, in the second week, delivering these micro lessons to your trainer and peers in order to put learned methodology and new ideas to practical use straight away.

Follow-Up

All participants are encouraged to maintain contact with their colleagues from the course and to establish contacts with teachers from other countries and regions to share experiences and difficulties encountered. Also, participants should work on adapting and creating materials for use in the provision of CLIL lessons.
